An aerial photograph of a desert landscape. A wide, light-colored road runs diagonally from the upper left towards the lower right. To the upper left of the road, there is a large, organized area containing many mobile homes or trailers, arranged in several rows. To the lower right of the road, there are several scattered buildings, some of which appear to be small houses or sheds, and a few vehicles. The ground is dry, brown, and sparsely covered with small, dark shrubs. The overall scene suggests a remote or undeveloped area.
